

Dear Local 33 friends and fellow stagehands,

I am retired Local 33 member, Steven C. Schreiner. I am a poet and have been writing under the pen name, C. Steven Blue, since the 1970s. This is an announcement for my brand new book on recovery, S.O.S. ~ Songs Of Sobriety ~ A Personal Journey Of Recovery.

My wife Paulette and I (for those of you who don't remember, Paulette was the red-haired boom operator at ABC, on General Hospital, for many years), retired to Eugene, Oregon 7 years ago. Since moving there, I have been pursuing the writing and publishing of my poetry full time.

My brand new book, Songs Of Sobriety, has just been released. It took me over twenty years to write and chronicles the first ten years of the recovery process, in verse. My hope is that it will provide inspiration and an additional lifeline to those in recovery of any kind, and those who have friends or family members in the process.

I am coming to Los Angeles in January to promote it. I will be doing a reading and book signing while I am there (which will include all of my books). I would like to invite all of you, including family and friends, to attend the reading, which will be at:

The Second Sunday Poetry Series

Sunday, January 12, 2014, 5:00 PM, at The Studio Theatre at St. Denis Building
3433 Cahuenga Blvd West, Los Angeles 90068 (Near Universal Studios).

You can also purchase all of my books at my website: www.wordsongs.com/books. If you buy them there, I can sign and personalize them for you. They are also available at Amazon.com (including Kindle e-book versions of some books) and Barnes & Noble (online or at your local store). You can order them from any independent book store as well.

For more more information on me and my work, please go to the tabs at the top of this page. There you can see my books, bio and blog, all about what I've been up to since retiring from Local 33.

Many thanks and I hope to see you at the reading.
